

Our Family Centers

Fall River Family Center is convenient to the library, bus terminal, and Charlton Hospital. It is situated in the historic downtown/lower Highlands neighborhood.

Harbour House Family Center, which opened in 2001, is located in a residential section of New Bedford on the bus line and close to shopping centers. Child care services are offered on-site at a child development center.

Taunton Family Center is also situated in a residential area, within walking distance of downtown Taunton, supermarkets, library, post office, and Morton Hospital.

Scattered Site Apartments

In addition to its three congregate family centers, SRN also provides 11 units of family emergency shelter in residential neighborhoods in the cities of Attleboro (5), Fall River (3), and Taunton (3), through a subcontract with Catholic Social Services.

Referral Process

Families seeking emergency assistance (EA) can apply at the Dept. of Transitional Assistance (DTA) to determine eligibility.

Eligible EA families are placed by the Dept. of Housing and Community Development (DHCD) based upon availability of units.

Funding Statement

Primary funding for our family centers is provided by DHCD. Additional funding and resources are provided by Citizens Energy Corporation, Emergency Solutions Grant (ESG), United Way, fund-raisers, and support from our generous donors.

Adopt-a-Room

Providing a homeless family with a secure environment and a comfortable room during this traumatic time is very important. Leave a lasting impression. For under $2,000, a room at one of our family centers can be completely refurnished. Rooms can be in memory of or dedicated to an individual or organization.

Donations are tax-deductible, under the extent permitted by law.

Attleboro, Fall River,

New Bedford, Taunton

Our family centers and scattered site apartments provide emergency shelter to families experiencing homelessness.

Our families are provided with case management, housing search/placement, and stabilization services upon obtaining housing.
